

SHOT BREAKS WELL CASING

Throckmorton County Has Indications of Oil in the Sun Well.

Albany, Texas, Aug. 27.—The Sun well on the Matthews ranch, 25 miles northwest of Albany, in Throckmorton county, is drilling at 1400 feet and from present appearances it will be a producer. A head flow has been encountered but the sand is not very thick and the drillers are drilling deeper.

The Sun well on the Reynolds ranch, 25 miles northwest of here, has hit the black line at 1100 feet and has the appearance of becoming a producer.

Well No. 7 well after producing a small amount of oil for six years from 1100 feet, has been given a shot. It shattered the casing and the sand in the shot are not known. The well is standing full of oil. It is being drilled to 1400 feet.

The Empire Gas and Fuel company's well, one mile north of here, has been cased and the gas will be used for fuel in drilling a deep test of the company's lease by this company is drilling 12 deep wells in this vicinity.

Three new wells will be started around Albany next month.

STRAWN DRAWS PROSPERITY FROM COAL AND OIL BOOM

Strawn, in southwestern Palo Pinto county, Texas, with its great oil activity increasing every day is one of the centers of attraction of north central Texas. Over 50 locations for drilling were made in the nearby fields last week and the town of Strawn is growing fast. The field joins with Ranger, Caddo and Des Moines fields.

It is said that the two banks at Strawn have deposits of $1,500,000 each and they are increasing daily. Strawn is a thriving town with more than 15,000 barrels of coal sold to bring in a payroll of nearly $1,000,000 are produced annually. Now come the nearby strawn oil fields with all their activity and probable great production.

DRILL STRIKES OIL SAND BENEATH ROCK FORMATION

Albany, Texas, Aug. 27.—The Stars well near Merkel, which is being slowly drilled, has resumed drilling. The Cement Packer No. 1 well is drilling in a very hard stone formation. The well is four miles south of here. It will be drilled to 2500 feet if nothing is struck at a lesser depth.

A shallow pool is said to have been opened up 15 miles south of Big Spring in Sterling county on the Harrison ranch by the M. C. C. O. I. association. The oil was struck at 160 feet after the drill passed through well rock, it is said.
